TRANSCRIBER'S NOTES

This work has been transcribed and proof read by Warren Hibbard. I have adhered to the format of the original document, with one exception. I have used the currently accepted three letter designation for the name of the month, with no period following. The original author, Levi Elwell, designated the months as follows: I have used the following convention:

Jan.	May	Sep.	Jan	May	Sep
Feb.	June	Oct.	Feb	Jun	Oct
March	July	Nov.	Mar	Jul	Nov
April	Aug.	Dec.	Apr	Aug	Dec

Additionally, I have tried to normalize the use of periods (.) at the end of universally recognized name abbreviations, for example, such as "Wm." for "William", or "Chas." for "Charles", where the original text uses the abbreviation "Wm" or "Chas" and the meaning is obvious from the immediate additional records. Where the actual notation meaning is in doubt, I have left the original text intact.

The Preface, Introduction, Explanation, Abbreviation and Misprint information, as well as the end material (Notes and Appendix), follow the order of the original document. Spelling differences and grammar in the Appendix have, in most part, been modernized, except in special cases where nineteenth century modes of speech and words convey a special meaning to the message. The original page numbers have been incorporated into the body of the transcription and are noted in bold (Page ##) in the left margin. The page numbers in parentheses at the bottom of each page are placed there simply so I could keep track of where I was in the transcription process and have no other purpose.

The original misprints, as noted on page viii, have been appropriately incorporated into the transcription, again, with the exception of the month designator.

COMPOSITION AND PRESSWORK 1911

Preface

Nine years ago the writer spent a few days in genealogical research in Shaftsbury. The town records were found to be far from complete in the matter of vital statistics; and it occurred to him that it would be well worthwhile to add to them the material extant on gravestones in public cemeteries and private burial grounds. Accordingly sometime in August was spent three successive years in securing such data. The statistical portions of all epitaphs were carefully copied and the copies verified two or more times in different years. This material was then written on little cards and arranged in alphabetic order as it is here printed.

It has been attempted to print only statistical matter in the briefest form practicable; and the only such matter deliberately omitted has been the indefinite designations of relationship expressed in eulogy or verse or by single words. No doubt there are mistakes in copying as in printing; such typographic errors as have been discovered are noted on page the viii; but most of the errors are found on the stones themselves. If, for example, Ella and Jesse are called sons, if there is a Feb. 29, 1857, if two stones record different data evidently in memory of the same person, the mistake is not due to careless proofreading. Though at times it was hard to resist a temptation to insert a query or surprise mark, the editor chose rather to presume upon the discriminating sense of the reader.

Names and dates are given with exactness; abbreviations and points are made uniform except in the few instances where regard was had for the original. A name not indented, and a surname in heavy type but between parentheses, signifies that the surname is derived from a subsequent part of the inscription. Thus, while "John Smith, son of Thomas Smith" would be indented, "John, son of Thomas Smith" would not be. But though this method, with separate stones for individuals, is easy and clear, it has not proved practicable with monuments. In case of married women the stone itself may be ambiguous; if, for example, Jane Smith is recorded as wife of John Smith, was Jane Smith her maiden or married name? In all such cases the name is indented. When a married woman's middle name is also a surname, a reference is always made to her under that surname even though it may not have been her maiden name; it seemed better to err in favor of the large majority of what were plainly meant for maiden names.

With regard to the introduction, it is proper to say that the editor has no expert knowledge of Shaftsbury history; so he has almost but not altogether followed the standard authorities, having added thereto somewhat from unpublished sources. Of the supplementary portions of the book, the new matter in the additions was obtained in August of this year, and is complete for South Shaftsbury, and believed to be so for North Bennington cemetery; the more remote cemeteries were not visited. The notes are samples of what might have been added on a far more extensive scale; they present useful but unessential information. Most of the older gravestones contain comment, eulogy, verse, or scripture. Such material was copied in full from all stones extant in private burial grounds; elsewhere it was usually neglected unless it included statistical matter. Specimens of the more notable verse and comment are given in the appendix; vagaries of spelling and punctuation are reproduced from the original.

Had the editor been an antiquarian, he would have described the position of the stones, their size, shape and kind, their styles of lettering; and he would have endeavored to reproduce the inscriptions entirely so as to resemble the original as nearly as possible. Had he been a genealogist, he would have compared all the accessible material on the relationship of the persons herein named; and tried to show what parts of his material are inaccurate or need to be viewed in the light of other authorities. Had he been an expert compositor, proofreader or pressman, he would have avoided very obvious faults in the printing; and in particular he would not have consulted brevity at the expense of the looks of the page. But he is none of these; otherwise this book would not have appeared. For while a work adequately printed and illustrated, constructed along antiquarian or genealogic lines, would have gained much in size and somewhat in usefulness, its publication would have required both expert and financial assistance. As this is the editor's first experience in preparing such matter for publication, the edition is limited to 107 copies; and the pages being printed from type and the type then distributed, no reprint will be possible.

The book is published in the year of the 150th anniversary of the granting of the Shaftsbury charter and is a slight contribution to the memory of the town's early pioneers, some of whom bore a distinguished part in the heroic struggles of their day. Among them doubtless were those of royal or Mayflower descent; but blissfully ignorant of their origin, they devoted themselves with courage and energy to the foundation of a free and independent state, and won their distinction, not through the eminence of their ancestors, but by their own worthy achievements in war and in peace.

Introduction

Shaftsbury is one of the six towns situated in the western part of Bennington county, Vermont. Bounded north by Arlington and south by Bennington, it extends on the east to the Green Mountains where it adjoins Glastenbury; on the west lie White Creek and Hoosic in New York. The highest point – 2420 feet – is in West Mountain which extends four miles into the town from Arlington. At the gristmill in the South village the elevation is 711 feet; at the church in the Center, 1100 feet; and near the Shaftsbury station, 883 feet. In the east part of the town, if we except the Green Mountain slope in the southeast corner, the highest point is Maple Hill – 1706 feet. By charter the township was to be 6 miles square; its actual area exceeds that measure by about a quarter mile each way.

Shaftsbury was one of the half-dozen New Hampshire grants chartered by Gov. Benning Wentworth August 20, 1761. That was the year of the settlement of Bennington; and two or three years later the settlement of Shaftsbury began. The first three settlers were James Draper Jr., John Munro, and George Niles. Mr. Draper has many honored descendants; his oldest son, Nathan, was the first white child born in the town; a grandson, Jonathan, gave the land for the cemetery in the South village. Mr. Munro held land in West Shaftsbury under a New York grant; this fact together with his zeal in behalf of the government of New York subjected him to severe treatment at the hands of the Green Mountain Boys; and for his loyalty to King George during the Revolution, his Vermont property was confiscated by the state. A man of convictions and courage, he was the victim of lost causes. Mr. Niles lived to the age of 105 years; and on the day he was 100 years old he took his scythe into the meadow, and after mowing a swath said, "There, boys, is a pattern for you." To the last he had a good memory and was a great storyteller. Dr. Paine, "who died in the midst of his usefulness," was also an early settler; his gravestone marks the first recorded death in the town. The following persons were residents in November, 1766:

Rufus Baker	Ichabod Cross	Mills Sly
David Blakely	Edward Fitzsimmons	Peleg Spencer
John Burnam	Jacob Marsh	John Trumble
Isaiah Carpenter	Mashir Martin	Abiathar Waldo
Matthias Cobb	Zerubabel Matteson	Samuel Waters
Ebenezer Cole	Justus Olin	Ichabod West
Freegift Cole	George Pengree	Ichabod West Jr.
Parker Cole

Introduction – continued

And others who came before 1771 were:

John Blakely, 1769	Dan Howlett, 1766	Thomas Matteson
Jeremiah Clark, 1767	Amos Huntington, 1770	Bliss Willoughby

Most of the early settlers were Baptists to whom the religious atmosphere of congregational Bennington was uncongenial. The first Baptist church in Vermont was organized in Shaftsbury in 1768; the second Shaftsbury, in 1780; the third, in 1781; and the fourth, in 1788. Their statistics 1794-5 were as follows:

First Baptist church,	Ephraim Downer pastor,	24 members
Second “ “	, vacant,	45 members
Third “ “	, vacant,	20 members
Fourth “ “	, Caleb Blood pastor,	160 members

The first church existed until 1844 when it was disbanded, and subsequently reorganized a half mile south in North Bennington; the meeting-house, which stood just north of the North Bennington cemetery, was taken down in 1856 and its timbers were used to build a schoolhouse. The second church continued in existence until 1839 when many of its members united with the fourth church in the Center. In 1836 the Universalists built a meeting-house, but six years later the society had no settled minister. At present the town supports two churches: the Baptist church in the Center and the Methodist in the South village.

Shaftsbury was organized before the Revolution, and Thomas Matteson was the first town clerk, but continuous town records did not begin until 1784. Through its history, whether in the struggle for the New Hampshire grants, or in the war for independence, or in suppressing the rebellion, the town has borne a worthy part. In 1777 its two companies of militia were commanded by Capt. Jonas Galusha and Capt. Amos Huntington. Capt. Huntington having been made prisoner and sent to Canada, the two companies were united and fought in the battle of Bennington under command of Capt. Galusha. In the Civil War the number of men enlisted from the town was 147. And in the history of Vermont, not to mention others who were hardly less eminent, the names of Capt. Jonas Galusha – nine times governor of the state – and Maj. Gideon Olin – judge, counselor, representative in Congress – will always remain among the most illustrious.

The population according to the US census has been as follows:

1790	1800	1810	1820	1830	1840	1850	1860	1870	1880	1890	1900	1910
1999	1895	1973	2022	2143	1835	1896	1937	2027	1887	1652	1857	1650

David Millington, descendant of one of the early settlers, was the first inventor of wax grafting; previously the only method was the application of mud, swingling-tow and rags. For many years after he had perfected the system the months of April and May witnessed an exodus of Shaftsbury grafters, 40 to 50 teams and 80 to 100 men going annually throughout New England and the western states.

Agriculture is the occupation of almost all the inhabitants. The Rutland railroad, running north and south through the town, has stations at South Shaftsbury and Shaftsbury Depot.

Explanation of Signs

Public cemeteries are indicated by figures, and private burial grounds by letters, as follows:

- 1 Shaftsbury Center cemetery, near Baptist church
- 2 South Shaftsbury cemetery; half mile south of railroad station
- 3 Maple Hill cemetery; East Shaftsbury, north
- 4 Joseph Wait cemetery; East Shaftsbury, center
- 5 North Bennington cemetery; half mile north of railroad station
- 6 Shaftsbury Hollow cemetery; West Shaftsbury, center

- A Aylesworth ground; West Shaftsbury, center; in mowing west of road, a few rods north of Mr. Bouplon's
- E Elwell ground; East Shaftsbury, south; in a pasture, a quarter mile east of the main road and visible from it
- F Fuller ground; West Shaftsbury, center; in a field, a few rods west of Mr. Bouplon's; enclosed by a wood fence
- L Millington ground; West Shaftsbury, south of center; on hillside, behind house owned by Mr. Allen of White Creek and occupied by tenant
- N Niles ground; cross road, South to West Shaftsbury; in a field, a few rods north of Mr. Reed's; enclosed by a stone wall
- P Private ground; West Shaftsbury, center; in mowing west of road, and a few rods south of Mr. Bouplon's
- R Spencer stone; Shaftsbury; lying by roadside, a quarter mile west of the railroad station
- S Stanley ground; West Shaftsbury, north of center; in field north of Mr. Peacock's, and a short distance west of road
- T Mattison ground; cross road, Shaftsbury to Maple Hill; enclosed by a stone wall
- W Wheeler stone; West Shaftsbury, south; prostrate by roadside, a half mile north of Mr. Loomis's

Abbreviations

In addition to the common abbreviations that need no explanation, the following are used:

a.	aged	h.	hours
a.c.	amicable consort	inf.	infant
b.	born	l.c.	late consort
br.	brother	m.	month(s)
c.	consort	r.	relict

Notes

Parts of names between parentheses are from footstones.

1. The names on the stone are thus abbreviated:

Jo<sup>a</sup> Bu<sup>r</sup>nh<sup>m</sup> || A. & L. Bur<sup>m</sup>

2. The relationship, not expressed, is implied by the position of the names.
3. The ‘ here indicates that the next letter (or syllable) is superior.
4. A footstone placed as a headstone.
5. A marker near E.A. and M.M. Cole; no surname.
6. On stone the F of Rufus is unfinished, resembling a Greek Γ.
7. Identical epitaph on two stones.
8. Name from footstone; on headstone only the w is legible.
9. Birthdays of the three children on footstone of Mrs. Susannah.
10. The ‘ indicates that the final H is superior with one point below.
11. The figures on the stone are 5<sup>2</sup>.
12. Stone broken across these figures; enough remains to justify conjecture.
13. Another stone, now laid aside, with same name and date of death, gives age as 5 y. 4 m. 25 d.
14. As on some other monuments the surname is on the base only.
15. the stone is so weathered that the u of Wilum is uncertain even after repeated examinations in various lights.
16. On an older stone now removed: Ensign
17. “ “ “ “ “ “ : Aurellia
18. “ “ “ “ “ “ : Matthew (both times)
19. “ “ “ “ “ “ : Capt.
20. “ “ “ “ “ “ : Matthew
21. Epitaph on monument of George Eddy.
22. The name here is Mcgonegal. These Mc- names are cut variously: with c on line or superior, and with superior c having two points below with or without interlining.
23. On Silas Stockwell monument, Cf. Roxanna A. Matteson.
24. The other surname on the monument is Martin.
25. On stone of Emily Ann.
26. On Alfred Niles monument

Notes – cont.

27. The name Adaline Ellison should have been listed in alphabetic order.
28. The epitaph reads: went home.
29. Name on a marker.
30. The inscription is: In memory of || Andrew Spencer. Cf. note 42.
31. On same stone as Mr. John and Mrs. Lucy.
32. Name first occurs as Ann G Nett – no point after G; but in the verse (see appendix) Ann G. Nett is found.
33. A small white octagonal horizontal stone.

34. The stone containing this and Ruth Taft's epitaph has been removed.
35. The last name on the Alden monument.
36. Surname is perhaps Harrington.
37. The surname, I was informed, is Loomis, s. Mr. S.C. Loomis.
38. Near Harry Hawkins stone.
39. These first two records were copied before the stones were set.
40. Seems to have supplanted the Lucinda J. Bronson Lyon stone.
41. The name was Lucy Aribell on an older stone now removed.
42. A large white horizontal stone, with the following epitaph near its foot:
In memory of || Peleg Spencer, & || Adria Spencer his Wife
The people are said to have been Quakers. Cf. record of Sarah
43. On Simon Green monument.

Appendix

Specimens of comment, eulogy, and verse, are here appended, some of them possessing biographic interest, and others (with or without variants) are of common occurrence.

1. Capt. Isaac Andrus:

The days of the years of my pilgrimage are 93 years few and evil have the days of the years of my life been.

2. Mrs. Abigail Bussey:

By sin came death: and few survive
To the age of seventy five:
Ere the gray mantle crowns thy head,
Thou mayest be numbered with the dead.

3. Mr. Lawton S. Colvin:

But nineteen days, in wedlock lies,
Before the sound, behold he dies!
He hoped in bliss, he should awake,
And this alone for Jesus' sake.

4. Ichabod Cross:

When in this land a wilderness,
He prayed the Lord his soul to bless.
And may the example he has set,
Be by his children ne'er forgot.

5. Ira Dickinson:

Farewell, O friends beloved! A glad tomorrow
Treads close upon the footsteps of today.
Soon you shall pass away,
Like me, into a world where friendship has no sorrow.

6. Mary M. Draper:

Farewell my faithful husband L.
Farwell, dear children, Ruth and C.
I hope in heaven to meet you three,
To sing God's praise eternally.

(at top of p. 74)

To God let us offer thanksgiving and praise, for the view she had of heaven, while the last glimmering of life's taper was extinguishing within,
Her faith in the Lord Jesus destroyed the sting of death and robbed the grave of victory. L.D.

7. Leroy Elwell:

Deeply his parents mourn for him,
His sisters and a brother,
There is one other lonely heart
Nearer than any other
Saaly shall miss the smile and tone,
By which her heart was won,
Help her to lift her head and say,
O! God, thy will be done.

8. Roxanna Elwell:

She was young gay and strong,
To Hail Mountain Grange she did belong,
And the youngest of them all,
The first the Lord saw fit to call.

9. Susan Elwell:

The companion of my youth lies silent and low in yonder cold grave yard, but not alone. She had six little infants that did go before to greet her as she arrived home.

10. George Frink:

He died suddenly and as ready.

11. Capt. Samuel House:

Happy the man who's lived a life.
Upright and honest, free from strife,
Whose faith impartial, strong and bright
Led him to live a life upright.

12. Polly Ann Hulet:

Christ while on earth such children loved.
Then why should we repine,
If he from us hath them removed,
In heavenly robes to shine.

13. Amos Huntington Esq.:

“The grave has eloquence; its lectures teach
In silence louder than divines can preach.”

14. Amos C. Huntington:

“Pale death with equal steps strikes wide the door:
Of College halls and hovels of the poor.”

15. Agnes M. Hutchins:

Nipped in the bud
to blossom in Heaven.

16. Ruth A. Koon:

She's gone and left us here without the gates.
Although her gentle memory lingers near us yet,
and keeps its guard, and silently awaits
Till we again have with her spirit met.

17. Daniel Matteson:

Dearest Father, thou hast left us,
And thy loss we deeply feel,
But in Heaven we hope to meet him,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

18. Samuel Matteson:

Stop passing stranger, drop a tear,
A friend and Brother moulders here,
His parents mourn, his widow weeps,
But fast in Death the husband sleeps.

19. Dea. Thomas Matteson:

He was the fourth generation,
From the Danish nation:
And was twice born, as Jesus said,
Blest are the pious dead.

20. Freelove A. Southworth Niles:

Endowed by nature with abundant wealth of intellect, with various and charming social qualities cultivated and embellished by education, she was the favorite in the family, the charm in society and friend of all.

Freelove! God gave thy name to be the keynote of thy nature; freely thou loved; free was thou loved.

Prompted by generosity, benevalence and choice, she bestowed a large share of her life upon the instruction of the young, in knowledge and virtue.

She died in hope of grace. "They that be wise [teachers] shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever.

Daniel XII. 13

21. Hon. Gideon Olin:

Pale Death with impartial fate,
Knocks at the palace and the cottage gate.

22. Jay Olin:

I had an irresistible desire,
This world and man to know,
Until I was called, and had to go.

23. Mrs. Patience Olin:

Palida mors aequo pede pulsat,
Pauperum tabernas regumque terres.

[Loose Translation – Pale death knocks at at the poor taverns as well as the castles of the monarchs of the earth.]

24. Ann G. Nett Stanley:

Young Reader, lo! as you pass by,
This marble tells Ann G. Nett sleeps;
Remember Reader you must die,
Must meet me at the judgment seat.

25. Olive Stanley:

Stranger step softly, lend a tear,
A friend and christian's buried here.
Her friends they sigh, a husband weeps,
The children mourn, a mother sleeps.

26. Mrs. Jamima Wheeler:

Here lies the Relics of a virtuous mind.
In life was most benevolent and kind,
But yet like mortals died!
Forever mourn your loss you poor,
Her liberal hand is known no more,
That once your wants supplied.

27. Mr. Jeremiah Willoughby:

Remember me as you pass by'
As you are now, so once was I;
As I am now, so you must be;
Prepare for Death; and follow me.

28. Mrs. Lydia Willoughby:

Where this cold silent marble weeps,
A friend a wife a mother sleeps.
